MASTER OF ARTS

ASIAN ART HISTORIES

MODE
Full-Time/ Part-Time
Classes will be conducted mostly in the evenings.

INTAKE
January

DURATION
Full-Time — 1.5 Years (3 Semesters)
Part-Time — 3 Years (6 Semesters)
The MA Asian Art Histories is the first MA programme in any tertiary institution worldwide to focus on Asian modern and contemporary art. While Asian art history programmes generally focus on classicism or the grand traditions, the programme gives you the opportunity to undertake original research in largely underexplored fields, investigate recently emerged artists and movements and contribute to contemporary discourses and scholarship. In addition, the programme encourages you to establish and expand your professional practices and networks, developing your potential to become leading thinkers and cultural producers in the field.

These are exciting times for Asian art and artists, many of whom have attained international stardom buoyed by market demand and greater visibility in the international art circuit. At the same time, Asian countries have been transformed into major centres for the arts. The success and visibility of Asian art means that researching and studying in this area is all the more timely and relevant. The MA Asian Art Histories Programme allows you to take advantage of these emerging networks by offering opportunities to participate in conferences, publications and research projects alongside industry leaders. The programme is also committed to supporting innovative individual and collaborative research projects by making available a number of grants for current students and alumni.

By studying at LASALLE, you will benefit from being located in Singapore — the arts and cultural hub of Southeast Asia — with an arts infrastructure that is unmatched by any other country in the region. The MA Asian Art Histories Programme takes full advantage of Singapore’s vast resources in Southeast Asian art by including in its curriculum regular off-site visits to galleries and other cultural institutions, as well as one overseas study trip to an area of relevance and interest. Previous trips have included visits to artist studios, galleries, archives, museums and collections in countries including Hong Kong, Vietnam, India and China. Students wanting to undertake in-depth field research will also benefit from Singapore’s strategic proximity to resources around the region.

Expanding the purview of conventional art histories, the programme encourages analysis of Asian modern and contemporary art from Asian perspectives rather than through Euro-American approaches alone. By studying Asian Art Histories in LASALLE’s practice-based environment, you will also experience an immersive environment within which to engage with practitioners and artworks, fostering interdisciplinary approaches towards the study and writing of art histories. The programme will equip you with the appropriate expertise and academic rigor to undertake a higher level of independent research work such as a PhD.

The success and visibility of Asian art means that researching and studying in this area is all the more timely and relevant.
This module examines the history of exhibitions as one of the primary means of publicizing and disseminating ideas that are central to the production and social meaning of the art object. This module will give emphasis to histories and theories that have developed theoretical frameworks and that are relevant to the field of Asian art as well as those concerning the role of art in society and the importance of art in contemporary society. This module aims to prepare you to confidently articulate your own critical arguments and methods necessary across all MA programmes, while also offering the opportunity to develop expertise in a particular field of study. Before focusing on the phenomenon of the exhibition, it will discuss different approaches to exhibition-making by Western and Asian curators as well as the reception of exhibitions on Asian contemporary art in the West. This module will also analyze the role of artist-curators in the shaping of art histories in Southeast Asia, as well as issues surrounding the art market and new exhibition formats such as biennales.

SEMINAR 1
- Research Methods in Creative Arts: 30
- Histories and Theories on Asian Art: 30

SEMINAR 2
- Exhibitions and the Making of Art Histories in Asia: 30
- Society and Politics in Asian Art: 30

SEMINAR 3
- Final Research: 60

In the part-time mode, the programme spans six consecutive semesters within a three-year duration. You are required to complete one 30-credit module each in Semesters 1 to 4. The Final Research 60-credit module will span the last two semesters in the final year.

Part-time students will begin with the Research Methods in Creative Arts module as this establishes core principles and skills necessary across all MA programmes, while also introducing techniques of research, and enables you to present and write analytically and critically across relevant issues in your field of study. You will undergo academic guidance from your Programme Leader to organise your course of study.

Research Methods in Creative Arts
This module is an introduction to arts research through a thorough study of research methods and analytical techniques informing artistic and critical practices at the MA level. Research operates within a critical context and this module aims to prepare you to confidently articulate your own research interests, formulate your own critical arguments as well as methods to investigate and probe issues.

Histories and Theories on Asian Art
This module examines the multiple intersections between art histories and critical theories in the 20th century that are used to frame the development of Asian art discourses. In the last two decades, scholars in the field of Asian art have developed theoretical frameworks and perspectives that criticized the monolithic Euro-American paradigm of art history. This module will give emphasis to histories and theories that are specific to the Asian context such as postcolonial theory, as well as more recent cultural theories that deal with identity and difference.

Exhibitions and the Making of Art Histories in Asia
This module examines the history of exhibitions as one of the primary drivers of Asian art histories through a series of detailed case studies starting from the 1890s to the present day. It will discuss the issues that surrounded art academies as well as galleries and museums in Asia, before focusing on the phenomenon of the exhibition. It will discuss different approaches to exhibition-making by Western and Asian curators as well as the reception of exhibitions on Asian contemporary art in the West. This module will also analyze the role of artist-curators in the shaping of art histories in Southeast Asia, as well as issues surrounding the art market and new exhibition formats such as biennales.

POSTGRADUATE RESEARCH
LASALLE has a long tradition of practice-led research in art and design. The College aims to assume a significant role in Singapore for practice-led research in visual, performing and literary arts, and aspires to add the distinctive viewpoint of Singapore to research into artistic practice in the 21st century. The Research Methods in Creative Arts module is a common module which all students are required to undertake. You will have the opportunity to interact with one another in the first term (seven weeks), to network with peers in other MA programmes and to form a stronger community of research practice that enhances your respective discipline of study as well as within the College.

You will be introduced to relevant professional methods of research and creation which may include profiles of and/or dialogue with creative professionals, critical/theoretical discourses, action research, visual object analysis, textual analysis, case studies, ‘historical and ethnographic’ research, interviews, life-stories/ autobiographies, etc. You will also be introduced to research practices such as literature reviews, process-based discovery, bibliographical searches, quantitative & qualitative methods, citations and the construction of research questions.

Postgraduate students are constantly exposed to first-hand experience in current practices of research and creation, leading to the acquiring powerful knowledge and of a wide set of skills by the time you graduate. You will have opportunities to develop expertise in accordance with your research interests.

CAREER PATHS
Curator, Academic, Gallery Manager, Art Writer, Researcher, Art Administrator and Art Consultant

PROGRAMME HIGHLIGHTS
- Based in Singapore, the programme gives you convenient access to museums, archives and cultural institutions across the region to do research.
- The programme is taught in a practice-based institution which offers you opportunities to interact and collaborate with art practitioners.
- An innovative programme, it takes learning beyond the classroom and includes local and overseas field trips to museums, exhibitions, independent art spaces, and cultural institutions as well as seminars and conferences.
- The programme is taught by an established faculty that includes art historians and curators as well as guest lecturers from the arts industry such as art market specialists, art gallerists, museum professionals and artists.
- There will be opportunities and platforms for optional attachments in cultural institutions, to write and research as well as to curate exhibitions.

STUDY TRIPS
A study trip will be organized to one of the countries in the Asian region, during which you will learn how artists and art communities respond to the dynamic social and cultural contexts in the production of art. There will be opportunities through networking with local art communities.

PROGRAMME STRUCTURE
This full-time programme spans three consecutive semesters within a 1.5-year duration. Semesters 1 and 2 each have two 30-credit modules. In Semester 2, a 30-credit elective module option is made available to you with a choice to take the module offered by your respective programme or, in consultation with your Programme Leader, select a module offered by another MA programme. The 60-credit module in the final (3rd) semester will allow you to develop a thesis based on your research interests.
THE FACULTY

Jeffrey Say
Programme Leader, MA Asian Art Histories
• MA Art History, The Open University, UK
• BA Honours, University of Queensland, Australia

Jeffrey Say is an art historian specialising in Singapore and Southeast Asian art history. Importantly, Jeffrey undertook pioneering research and study of the history of sculpture in pre-modern and modern art with his MA at the University of Sydney. Jeffrey’s dissertation was titled, ‘Art of the Asian Trades: Malek Merchant Bazaar, Late 19th Century, Singapore’, which was based on his fieldwork in Singapore, Malaysia and Indonesia in 2003-2004. Prior to LASALLE, Jeffrey was a curator at the former National Museum where he was overseeing the collection of Buddhist and Indian artefacts. As a museum curator, Jeffrey curated exhibitions on Tibetan Buddhism and Indian Pottery dating back over 5000 years of India. In his professional capacity, Jeffrey has curated visual arts exhibitions and contributed essays to both local and international art publications.

Jeffrey has been instrumental in the development of art history studies at LASALLE, supporting artists to develop a contextual and historical understanding of the evolution of visual arts. In 2009, he designed the world’s first Master’s programme focusing on Singapore and contemporary art histories. Jeffrey is a public advocate of the importance of art history to Singapore. He is a frequent public speaker at museums, universities and galleries, and conducts short courses which remain hugely popular among various publics. Jeffrey is also a regular contributor on the local visual art scene. His current research interest is on Singapore modern and contemporary art histories. He has written an essay on the early contemporary art scene of Singapore which offers a new perspective on the beginnings of contemporary art in Singapore (published in the July 2019 edition of Shuttered). He is also working towards a research monograph on modern and contemporary art which will be a revised edition.

Dr Clare Veal
Lecturer, MA Asian Art Histories
• Doctor of Philosophy (Art History), University of Sydney, Australia
• BA Honours (Art History), University of Sydney, Australia

Clare is an art historian and curator who undertakes research on Southeast Asian photographic and visual culture, with a particular focus on Thailand. She received her PhD from the Department of Art History and Film Studies at the University of Sydney for her thesis entitled, Thailand: Framed Photography and Thai identity, 1890-2010. She has research and teaching experience from institutions in Australia, Thailand and Singapore. From 2007-2016, she was a participating scholar in the Powerhouse Museum’s Ambitious Alignments: New Histories of Southeast Asian Art research programme. She has contributed to the first Southeast Envy of Modernism (2016) and has contributed papers to a number of edited volumes, journal articles and exhibition catalogues, as well as contributing to a survey of the Chang Sang collection in Bangkok. Clare has co-curated exhibitions including, Photographs of the Team: Women by Anne-Katrin Wanzenrieder (2014) and Revisited-United States: Phapawan Suwanwattanakit (2016).

Dr Caroline Turner
Adjunct Senior Research Fellow and Associate Professor in the Research School of Humanities and the Arts, Australian National University.

Dr Caroline Turner is an Adjunct Senior Research Fellow and Associate Professor in the Research School of Humanities and the Arts, Australian National University. Prior to that, she was Deputy Director of the Queensland Art Gallery where she organised and curated many international exhibitions from Europe, Asia and North America. She was co-founder and Project Director for nearly 10 years in the 1990s for the International Triennial exhibitions (1993, 1998, 1999) at the Queensland Art Gallery and scholarly editor of the three major catalogues for the first three Triennials. Dr Turner’s books include Tradition and Change: Contemporary Art of Asia and the Pacific (1993) and Art and Social Change: Contemporary Art in Asia and the Pacific (2003).

T.K. Sabapathy
A historian, curator, teacher, critic and writer, T.K. has been influential in the field of Southeast Asian art and culture, specialising in the reception of Indian art in the West, as well as in modernity, art and identity in India, and more recently in global modernism. At present, he is Emeritus Professor in the Department of Art History at the Courtauld Institute of Art at the University of London, and Honorary Fellow, Victoria & Albert Museum, London. His publications include Mughal Monuments: History of European Reactions to Indian Art (Clarendon Press, Oxford 1977), Art and Nationalism in Colonial India 1850-1920: Occidental Orientations (Cambridge University Press, 1994), The Triumph of Modernism: Indian Artists and the Avant-Garde – 1922–1947 (Gosforth Books, London, Oxford University Press, New Delhi, 2007).

Zhuang Wubin
is a photographer, writer and curator. As an artist/curator, he focuses on the photographic practices in Southeast Asia. Wubin was the recipient of a research grant from the Prince Claus Fund (Amsterdam) in 2010. This enabled him to write his book Photography in Southeast Asia. A Survey (published by NUS Press in 2016), the first comprehensive work on photography in Southeast Asia. Wubin has also been invited to research residency programmes at the Institute of Advanced Studies, Singapore (2015) and Asia Art Archive, Hong Kong (2015). He has lectured and conducted workshops in many institutions and universities around the region. As an artist/curator, Wubin uses photography and text to visualise the Sinophone communities in Southeast Asia.

Dr June Yap
Programme Leader, MA Asian Art Histories

Dr June Yap holds a PhD in Cultural Studies from the National University of Singapore. She has been an independent curator, writer and chartist of Southeast Asian art historical discourses predicated on regional art’s critical dialogue with history, society, faith, and power. She has curated numerous institutional exhibitions in Asia and Europe, and has served as lecturer in the MA Asian Art Histories Programme in LASALLE since 2011. She is the author of Museums of Southeast Asia (2004), and the editor of and contribution author to four anthologies of Southeast Asian art history, charts transnational Southeast Asian art historical discourses over the past and current visiting professors and lecturers include:

• A Bachelor’s degree in any discipline from a recognised tertiary institution
