At the heart of ‘research’ is discovery: the discovery of new phenomena or evidence, new knowledge, or arriving at a new understanding of something you thought you already knew.

Witness the discoveries the MA Arts and Cultural Leadership graduands made on their dissertation and research journeys, and get to know the faces and personalities behind the research.

Coming from diverse backgrounds, the graduating cohort explored questions of arts management, leadership and cultural policy in visual art, music, museology, creative hubs, creative industries development policy.
